

We Chose Love

i never knew peace ‘til I walked into your love and the current of your soul pulsed with mine

where one voice ended
the silence filled
with the sound of two hearts vibrating in harmony

what was separate converged not two shadows, but one dawn not two voices, but one song rising, rising

and when the world remembers our epitaph will say this was our story, our song, our lyric refrain standing between two eternities we chose, and chose,
and chose love...
again